JAPAN BLASTED BY ANOTHER ATOM BOMB

Meandering Along the Main Stem By WASH FAYETTE

The phone rang persistently at police headquarters, and when a policeman answered it, an aged man told the officer that some boys had stolen his tomatoes and he wanted something done about it.

"They were big tomatoes, some weighing a pound and a half," said the man.

The police went out to see if they could find the thieves.

"The tomatoes were right here on this table, and the boys swiped them," said the man.

About that time it was found that the wind had blown the table cover back and covered the tomatoes, which were still on the table.

When the police returned they carried one of the big tomatoes that really weighed around 1½ pounds. The man had given it to them after he had gotten over his embarrassment.

Driving along the CCC highway a few days ago, I noticed a car parked at the roadside while a man, with a box, was collecting a liberal supply of hollyhock seed from the stalks that grew in abundance along the roadside.

I am told that scores of motorists have been helping themselves to the seed, and that Fayette County hollyhocks bid fair to be widely scattered in the nation.

I understand the State Highway Department will not collect the seed this year, and that it is perfectly all right for people to help themselves from the hollyhocks at the roadside.

In all probability no other roads in the county will be lined with hollyhocks, it is indicated by highway officials.

The necessity of relatives of servicemen contacting the American Red Cross Chapter here in order to get men in service home quickly in case of serious illness, death and for other important reasons, is stressed in a letter received by Mrs. E. Craig, from her daughter, Lt. (jg) Carolyn Franklin, who is with the war communications office at San Francisco, Cal.

Lt. Franklin's letter says in part: "Lately we have had some gals and fellows who have had to get home quickly from here due to sickness, death, etc. Their families have neglected to contact their local Red Cross chapter, to have this news confirmed by the local Red Cross representative and their requests for emergency leaves have been held up until a confirmation came through."

"If you know or ever hear of anyone who wants to get his son home immediately from overseas, do not let them forget to get Mary Robinson to sign a wire from the Red Cross, too, or they will not even consider giving the man an emergency leave."

"It is one of the sorest points with us that the American public does not seem to know this, and nobody bothers to tell them."

"What is the use of some sister or brother wiring a sailor on Guam to come home, that his wife is dying, if it is not confirmed?"

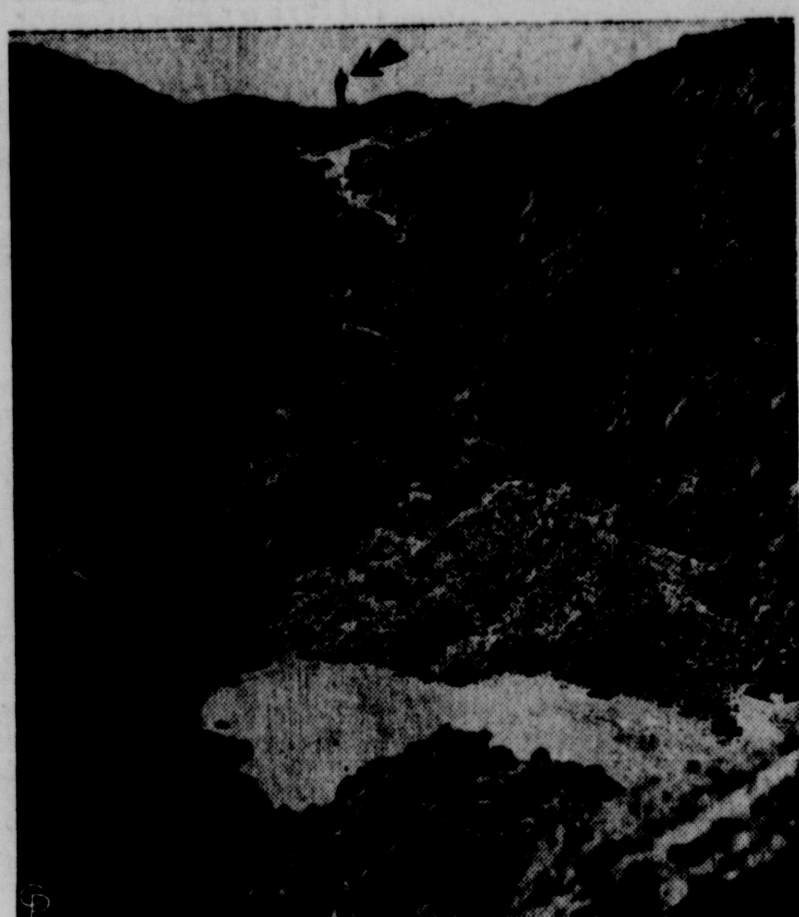

HIGH U. S. OFFICIALS DISCUSS NEW BOMB

Conferences Is Called by President Truman

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—(AP)—President Truman called in top military, diplomatic and scientific advisers today to discuss the atomic bomb whose terrific destruction effect twice has been felt by Japan.

Secretary of War Stimson cancelled a news conference to attend the White House meeting. He took with him Major General Leslie Groves, who supervised the secret work which harnessed for war purposes the atom's terrific energy. Groves was to have attended Stimson's news conference today.

Secretary of State Byrnes, who sat beside Mr. Truman when the President announced Russia's declaration of war on Japan yesterday, came across the street to join the meeting.

THIS STUPENDOUS CRATER (note the man at top) left by a British RAF ten-ton Grand Slam bomb in experimental ground in England becomes nothing at all in our new era of atomic bombs. Packing a punch 2,000 times as big, the atomic bomb is volcanic in action. (International)

Reconversion Plan Drafted By Truman

President's Five-point Program To Speed Return to Peacetime Production Includes Recommendation for Lifting Controls as Soon as Possible

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—(AP)—President Truman today laid down a five-point plan designed to speed reconversion of industry to peacetime production and recommended the lifting of controls as soon as possible.

The President said in a letter to WPB Chief J. A. Krug that he hopes the WPB staff "will stay on the job" because their work is not yet done.

JAPS ARE WARNED!

Leaflets Say Atom Bomb Will Destroy Them

By BONNIE WILEY

GUAM, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Three million pamphlets daily, featuring use of the atomic bomb and Russia's declaration of war, will be dropped on the Japanese home islands.

The leaflets will be dispatched by Admiral Nimitz' psychological warfare division in conjunction with U. S. strategic air forces B-29s.

The leaflets read, in part: "America asks you to take immediate heed to what we say in this leaflet. We are in possession of the most destructive explosive ever devised by man. A single one of our newly developed atomic bombs is actually equivalent in explosive power to what 2,000 of our giant B-29s can carry in a single mission."

WAR ON GAMBLING IS PRESSED IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche told Mayor R. L. Hamilton of Chesapeake and Lawrence County Sheriff Milton B. Rucker today that gambling was reported rampant in their territories and that if they didn't act immediately to wipe it out, the governor would use his authority to do so. Complaints of gambling activities in Chesapeake, across the Ohio River from Huntington, W. Va., led Lausche to call the officials to Columbus for the conference. Also attending the meeting in the governor's office was State Liquor Director Robert M. Sohngen.

tack and it might have been of a different size than the first one which destroyed 60 percent of Hiroshima. The carefully worded communique said only that the second use of the atomic bomb had occurred, leaving to speculation all other details.

The bomb was dropped at noon Japanese time—about nine hours after Tokyo radio reported Red army troops backed up Russia's declaration of war on Japan by attacking enemy forces in eastern Manchukuo both by land and by air, and while four other Japanese cities still burned from round-the-clock B-29 incendiary and demolition attacks.

The return of Admiral Halsey's massive fleet to waters off north Honshu—the same sector where it began its "Red July" scourge of the enemy fleet, air force and coastal industries—came as Admiral Nimitz pledged Russia the assistance of the Navy.

The Tokyo radio reported that in addition to the heavy carrier plane attacks, surface units of the

JAPS OFFERED SHIP IN PRISONER TRADE

Vessel Would Replace One Sunk by Mistake

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The state department has offered the Japanese an 11,758-ton vessel to replace the relief ship Awa Maru, sunk by mistake by an American submarine.

As part of the deal, however, the Japanese would have to agree to meet at a transfer point in the Pacific for an exchange of enemy and allied civilians, ill and seriously wounded prisoners of war, "surplus protected personnel" and mail and supplies for prisoners held by both sides.

The department specified that transfer of the ship to the enemy would not be indemnification. It proposes to discuss that when the war is over.

Youthful Commandant Could Get Things Done

By HAL BOYLE

SAN FRANCISCO.—(AP)—There used to be a saying in the First Infantry Division: "The good die young, and Peters will live forever."

Peters—now Lt. Col. Leonard T. Peters—became headquarters commandant of the American Fifth Corps during the last stages of its march through Germany and Czechoslovakia.

A headquarters commandant is a grand-scale army housekeeper. It is his task to see that the camp is laid out and functions properly.

Peters thinks George Washington was probably the greatest general in history—at least from the viewpoint of a headquarters commandant.

"Washington never used telephone wire," he explained.

One of Peters' many jobs was to see that you could pick up a telephone and talk to somebody at the other end—whether he was five blocks or a hundred miles away. It sounds easy, but in one month Peters had to choose and set up ten camp sites for the 1,150 officers and men in the Fifth Corps headquarters.

Sometimes the corps jumped fifty miles in a day. Two days later they might hoptscotch the headquarters another 40 miles. And through it all Peters had to see that the phones were working, hot meals were on tap two or three times a day, guards were posted and that everything was

Four Freedoms Become Personal

Cemeteries on Iwo Jima Are Mute Evidence of Innermost Feelings of Fightin' Men

By ROBBIN COONS

IWO JIMA.—(AP)—Cemeteries traditionally are green and quiet retreats. Those on Iwo Jima are neither green nor quiet.

Nowhere on Iwo is there quiet. The steady drumming of B-29s, the screaming passage of Mustang fighters, and the sky-splitting whine of Black Widows in the night keep the air over Iwo in turmoil—and that too seems fitting, seems to give added meaning to the sacrifice here remembered. Quiet on Iwo now, with these men's war not finished, would seem a mockery to each white-marked grave.

Four Freedoms Personal Many servicemen are inarticulate. If you suddenly asked a group of them to put into words what their war was about and why they were fighting, you'd

RUSSIA'S AIMS GUESSING TOPIC

Entry Into War Against Japs Carries Implications

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Russia has gained a seat at the Pacific peace table, and her presence there may have far-reaching diplomatic and territorial implications.

By her declaration of war against Japan, the Soviet Union became a partner with the United States, Great Britain and China in settlements that will determine, among other things, which strategic islands American forces are to hold after the fighting ends.

The disposition of these islands, such as Iwo Jima and Okinawa, went unmentioned in the master plan for dismembering Japan agreed upon at Cairo in November, 1943, by President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

The assumption in diplomatic quarters here is that when the Soviets finally agreed to enter the conflict against Japan, they automatically accepted the terms of the Cairo agreement, in which they did not participate.

This belief is strengthened by authentic disclosures that at Yalta in February Generalissimo Stalin told Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill, both Cairo signers, that he would enter the Pacific war. But he did not then set a specific date.

At Cairo the three powers then fighting the Japanese renounced all territorial expansion for themselves.

They agreed that Japan would be stripped of all Pacific islands she had seized or occupied since the beginning of World War I in

Russians Drive into Manchuria Against Best Jap Army Forces

Bitter Fighting in Prospect as Soviet Troops Thrust Out Prongs of Giant Pincer Only Few Hours After War Declared — Red Airplanes Roar Into Action To Blast Communication Centers

(By the Associated Press)

Invading Russian armies, 1,200 American and British carrier planes, and a second atom bombing attack brought Japan its worst day of the war today.

In rapid succession:

1. Red Army columns opened a gigantic pincers drive on Northern Manchuria a few hours after Moscow declared war on Japan, the Tokyo radio said.

2. Unchallenged, 1,200 bombers and fighters swept over the entire northern half of Honshu Island, "the mainland of Japan."

3. Superforts carried out another successful atom bomb attack on Nagasaki, southern Nipponese port.

4. Allied warships, Tokyo reported, shelled the steel city of Kamaishi on Northern Honshu.

The Russian declaration of war was effective at midnight.

Before dawn, Tokyo reported, Red armies were driving into Manchuria at points roughly 800 miles apart.

The greatest Soviet force poured out of the Vladivostok area, smashing into Japan's finest army at points along a 300-mile front reaching from Hunchun to Hutoo.

The other arm of the pincers which could bite off the entire northern end of Manchuria, hit at Manchouli, 800 miles northwest of Hunchun.

Tokyo said both drives were supported by small numbers of airplanes, other Soviet aircraft raided important cities in both Korea and Manchuria, including Rashin and Harbin.

"Sharp fighting is now in progress in all areas invaded by Soviet forces," Tokyo radio said. The Red Army was attacking Japan's proud Kwantung Army, whose officers have long supplied Nippon's war-guiding, ruling military clique.

The Soviets were believed to have a million men deployed along the border. The Japanese have an estimated 2,000,000 combat troops in Manchuria, North China and Korea.

The enemy bulletin declared puppet Manchurian troops had joined the Japanese in counterattacks.

Tokyo said the Manchurian puppet government this morning proclaimed a defense decree for

PLAN TO MODERNIZE SEWER SYSTEM OFFERED COUNCIL

ENGINEERS ASK FOR CONTRACT TO MAKE PLANS

Action on New Water Rates Postponed After Brief Discussion

Plans for revamping and modernizing the sewer system of Washington C. H. are being considered by City Council as result of offers submitted at the Wednesday night session, by Engineers Myron T. Jones and Paul Uhlman, of Columbus, following a discussion of the sewer conditions here by council and City Manager W. L. Stambaugh.

The matter was presented to council by Stambaugh, who stated that the engineers wanted to talk with council about a post-war sewer construction project, initial cost of which would be financed by the Federal Government unless the project is carried through, in which case the cost of survey and plans would be carried with the regular cost of the project.

Stambaugh said that the sewerage disposal plant is not functioning properly by reason of the amount of surplus water carried into the system through the storm sewers and possible breaks in the intercepting sewer, and that the storm and sanitary sewers should be separated, and many new sewers built.

He said that half of the city is without sanitary sewers, and that he believed a survey should be made to determine the city's sewer needs, as something must be done in regard to the serious problems here.

"When intercepting sewer is flooded during heavy rains and can not be handled at the disposal plant, it causes water bearing sewage to back up in basements," Stambaugh said.

Chairman R. H. Sites asked if efforts had been made to find and repair the leaks, and Stambaugh said some efforts had been made but there appeared to be more than one main leak.

Member Richard Willis asked about blue prints for the sewers, and Stambaugh said sewer records were very incomplete, and that records of sewers constructed in recent years could not be found.

He said the former engineers had completed many records, and that some of them might be filed over the firemen's quarters.

Stambaugh also said that plans for the $60,000 addition to the disposal plant should be revised before the money is expended on the project.

He said the sewers are inadequate, full of roots, and the storm sewers and sanitary sewers can not be merged successfully.

Engineer Myron T. Jones, who has been working on aerial plans of Fayette County for sometime, spoke at some length, answered many questions regarding the proposed survey and plans for modernizing the sewer system here, and said that such a survey and plans would cost anywhere from $16,000 to $20,000.

He said it is a real opportunity to get government aid without cost unless the project goes through, and that the cities with the projects in blue-print form will be the first to get the go signal after the war.

Jones said a study of the sewers must be made to determine just what the city has in the way of sewers, then make plans to repair old sewers, build new ones, and modernize the system as much as possible.

He said there are no maps showing sewers, and that a utility map should be available by all means, showing location and size of all sewers, water mains, gas mains, etc.

He said tentative plans for submitting to the government for approval of the projected

Water Rates Up
The proposal for a 10 per cent contract for water rates, submitted by the Ohio Water Service Co. at the last meeting, to take the place of the present unexpired contract which has 2 1/2 years to run, was brought up.

Member Roy Baughn said no decrease had been offered in the rates, and he was not in favor of the proposal.

Stambaugh also said that he is not in favor of such a proposal.

JAPAN IS BLASTED BY SECOND ATOMIC BOMB; NAGASAKI IS CITY HIT

Third Fleet were shelling the northeastern Honshu steel city of Kamaishi.

"Even as the Third Fleet steamed contemptuously close to the Japanese coast to resume its pounding of the homeland, only two Japanese planes came near it," Dopking's dispatch said.

"Both these were shot down long before they had a chance to get a glimpse of this Navy powerhouse and it is doubtful if its movements were detected, although it probably was the noisiest approach to enemy shores in naval history."

The carrier pilots were in a jocular mood, remarking, "It looks like small packages we are carrying in these days for the Nips compared with atomic bombs."

The Japanese had had time to study the devastation wrought at Hiroshima, where they reported "practically every living thing" was destroyed as the world's first mighty atom bomb wrecked 60 percent of that city of 343,000 Monday.

Nagasaki, western Kyushu seaport and railroad terminal with an estimated 255,000 population in its 12 square miles, was a far more important military target.

General Spaatz' U. S. Army strategic air force headquarters said Nagasaki, with its houses jam-packed, probably was even more vulnerable to an atom bombing.

Hiroshima was one of the best laid out cities for defense against fire raids, but its extensive firebreaks and three streams flowing through or near the city failed to save it. Damage and death extended outside the city limits—damage greater than had been caused by 1,000 tons of incendiary and demolition bombs dropped on other Japanese cities.

Nagasaki will give observers another opportunity to study the mighty atom's effectiveness against a large city. Nagasaki virtually was untouched by American might, although it was attacked nearly a year ago by China based B-29s and was hit heavily on successive days, last July 31 and Aug. 1, by Okinawa-based bombers and fighters of the far east air force.

Nagasaki contained three Mitsubishi plants—ordnance, a steel and arms works, and an electric manufacturing company. It nestled among rugged hills and its 12 square miles occupied a site similar to an amphitheater reaching out from reclaimed land along the waterfront. Tenacle-like growths branched into narrow valleys of the surrounding hills.

Crewmen who dropped the atom bomb on Nagasaki immediately flashed "good results" via radio to Spaatz' headquarters. The general said no further details would be available until the mission returned. His communique did not say whether only one bomb was dropped, or only one plane went over the target.

Nagasaki was vitally important for the shipment of military supplies and embarkation of troops to Japan's operations in China, Formosa, southeast Asia and the southwest Pacific. Both the navy and merchant fleets took advantage of its major shipbuilding and repair facilities.

Its 12 square miles included the industrial suburbs of Inase and Akumura on the west side of the harbor, and Urakami.

Earlier Spaatz had reported that 402 Superforts carrying 2,300 tons of incendiaries and demolition bombs had achieved excellent results in attacking four other major targets yesterday and early today.

Three Superforts were lost. Additionally, 78 Mustang and Thunderbolt from two struck four airfields and other targets in the Osaka area yesterday.

Widespread fires raged in the industrial areas of Fukuyama, 42 miles northeast of Kure, after 92 Superforts spilled more than 500 tons of incendiaries there. Anti-aircraft fire was meager and there was no fighter interception.

Two Superforts were lost in a 1,400-ton demolition bomb raid on Japan's big steel center, Yawata. The heavy explosive load, unloosed by 233 B-29s, started several large fires. There was slight interception and moderate anti-aircraft fire.

B-29s at 67 of the Superforts attached the Nakajima aircraft plant and Tokyo arsenal with 400 tons of high explosives yesterday afternoon. Japanese fighters again evaded the issue. Spaatz reported good to excellent results.

The Mustang-Thunderbolt raid on Osaka destroyed a highway bridge, a locomotive and 10 small boats; fired a factory, and damaged shops, hangars, barracks, trains, railroad stations and small shipping. No Japanese planes rose to defend Osaka but intense anti-aircraft fire downed six fighters. Three of the pilots were rescued.

Far east air force planes sank or damaged 23 Japanese ships and 36 small craft Sunday night and Monday in more than 400 sorties ranging from Korea to Malaya and the Indies. The bag included two freighter-transports, five freighters and a gunboat off Kyushu.

General MacArthur's communique today also reported that five Japanese planes attempted to raid Okinawa before dawn Monday. One attacker was downed and two others probably were destroyed by anti-aircraft fire.

Twelve freighters, eight still on the shipways, were knocked out in raids on the Malay coast.

sure you it is grimly accurate."

The pamphlets warn that use of this weapon against Japan has just begun and urge doubters to inquire what happened at Hiroshima when just one atom bomb fell. They add:

"Before using this bomb to destroy every resource by which the military is prolonging the war, we ask that you now petition the emperor to end the war. Our president has outlined for you 13 consequences of an honorable surrender. We urge that you accept these consequences and begin the work of building a new, better, peace-loving Japan."

The Japanese were urged to evacuate their cities.

OKINAWA, Aug. 9.—(P)—Okinawa based Superfortresses will be able to carry a 15-ton bombload on every strike they make at Japan, Lt. Gen. James Doolittle disclosed today in welcoming the B-29s of his Eighth Air Force to their new home here.

The Marianas-based Superfort-resses have been able to carry a top load of 10 tons, but nearness to the target and some technical changes permit the Okinawa B-29s to increase their destructive load 50 percent.

THE WAR TODAY

—BY DEWITT MACKENZIE—

Japan's day is rapidly drawing to a close.

Russia's entry into the war, coming on top of the advent of the atomic bomb with its awful powers of annihilation, place Nippon in a position where she must surrender quickly or suffer destruction. The Oriental mind is inscrutable to the western world, but even so one would expect the Japanese war-lords to surrender forthwith if they possess even a modicum of sense.

Moscow's declaration of war represents a masterly psychological coup. First came the atomic bomb on Hiroshima, destroying that great city and, as the Japs themselves say, killing every living thing. There followed the Soviet block-buster in the form of war which today is tearing into both sides of Japan's Manchurian stronghold. And finally, we have today's successful atomic bomb attack against the great port of Nagasaki.

There's nothing for Japan to do but surrender—or commit national hara-kiri. Now that we have the facts before us, it is clear that these events are the result of careful and astute planning over a considerable period. The Big Three apparently put the finishing touches on it at Potsdam. No wonder President Truman was anxious to hurry back home and cancelled plans for a European visit.

Of course Japan was well on the road to defeat before the atomic bomb was brought into action. It was only a question of how much time it would take to finish the job. The first demonstration of the bomb made it clear that if we used it indiscriminately, we could wipe out Japan in a very short time.

However, there always has been the possibility that the madness of the Japanese war-lords might impel them to try to continue the war on the continent even after Tokyo had surrendered. But Russia's entrance into the war has rendered any such scheme impossible of execution. The sum and substance of the Japanese position is neatly summarized for us by Secretary of State Byrnes:

"There is still time—but little time—for the Japanese to save themselves from the destruction which threatens them."

So far as Russia is concerned, the Japs of course were expecting this development and were ready for it. They have for many weeks been moving troops from Southern China northward for the very obvious purpose of getting ready for a possible Red attack on Manchuria.

The Japanese have formidable forces pitted against the enemy. They have in Manchuria their Kwantung Army of some 750,000 men, representing the finest troops they possess. In addition there are, according to the latest figures, about 650,000 more Japs in Northern China. It should be remembered, too, that they have concentrated many of their war industries in Manchuria, even moving numerous plants from the Japanese mainland.

Besides the troops on the continent, the Japs have about 1,700,000 in the home islands, perhaps 900,000 in Southeast Asia and on the by-passed Pacific islands. None of these, however, are available for the war against Russia on the mainland.

With Russia in the war, Japan now is surrounded, creating a position of which General MacArthur says:

"This will make possible a great pincer movement which cannot fail to end in the destruction of the enemy."

There is the even brighter view that Tokyo will make a quick surrender. And one wonders whether it will be tendered to all the Allies or to Russia.

FAYETTE MAN IS EN ROUTE HOME FROM PACIFIC

T. Sgt. Herman I. Daugherty
Formerly With National Guard Company

(Special to the Record-Herald)
AN ADVANCED ARMY BASE IN THE WESTERN PACIFIC—With the Bronze Star medal, the Purple Heart and three campaign stars, including one for Guadalcanal among the medals adorning his chest, Technical Sergeant Herman I. Daugherty, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Daugherty of Route 1, Washington C. H., Ohio, is now on his way home to a separation center with 116 precious points.

Inducted into active service with the Ohio National Guard in October, 1940, at Greenfield, T-Sgt. Daugherty, a veteran of 39 months of Pacific duty on seven island bases, recently left this advanced outpost, where he was serving with his original unit, "H" Company in an infantry regiment which is engaged in mopping up operations against the remnants of a once powerful Jap force.

Daugherty served as a heavy weapons platoon sergeant during the action here. Most of his souvenirs distributed among the members of his platoon, Daugherty is returning with one, a Nip flag. From the early precarious days of the war when the United States was girding itself to stem the tide of Jap conquest, Sgt. Daugherty has fought the treacherous Nip in the heat of mosquito infested jungles, guarded against them on barren coral atolls and rooted them out of their well-concealed network of caves on this Western Pacific base.

A former student at Western High School where he was on the basketball team, Daugherty was engaged in farming prior to donning khaki.

After completing basic training at Camp Shelby with his regiment, he launched his long tour of Pacific duty with them in May, 1942. While serving his regiment on Fiji, Guadalcanal, British Samoa, Wallis Island, New Caledonia, Emirau and this base, Sergeant Daugherty has been awarded the Bronze Star medal, the Purple Heart, the Good Conduct medal, the American Defense ribbon with a battle star, and the Asiatic-Pacific theater ribbon with three bronze battle stars.

So far as Russia is concerned, the Japs of course were expecting this development and were ready for it. They have for many weeks been moving troops from Southern China northward for the very obvious purpose of getting ready for a possible Red attack on Manchuria.

Brothers Meet On Ship After Two Years Apart

What happens to two brothers when they meet after two years on board a merchant ship in the South Pacific?

Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Morris, route 4, answered that question in a letter written July 26 to their parents who had been anticipating word of their meeting since they knew their older son, Elbert, had joined the merchant marine and that he was headed for duty in the Pacific. The younger brother, Pfc. Robert Morris, 21, has served 28 months in the Pacific.

Parts of the letters each boy wrote his mom and dad follow and well describe the emotions and friendly banter which took place during their meeting. Robert's letter said:

"Well, right now, I'm looking at the ugly mug of my big brother. He keeps shooting me such a line I can't write. He sure is windy or something because he keeps talking my arm off. I guess he didn't quite make it to China with a load of telephone poles."

"I guess we were lucky to be able to get together. We sure had a lot of fun talking over old times. When he got up here he wrote me a letter and it took ten days for the letter to get from the ship to me. If it takes that long for a letter to get to me, then you can imagine how long it must take for a package to get over here."

The letter from Elbert, which was enclosed in the same envelope, and "R. K. Gillespie. . . 1927-1945. . . Blessed are the pure in heart." and "Zeke. . . May God bless you. . . Your childhood buddy. . . Some are cryptic, like the one marked only: 'Most likely.' Some tell a poignant tale in few words—like this anguished inscription: 'But God—fifteen years was not enough!'"

But time and again this theme recurs: "He died that we may live—well never forget. . . Your spirit will never die. . ."

"J. R. Grant. . . He gave his life that we might live in peace and freedom. . ."

"Reach down, dear Lord, for this marine who gave his all that we might live. . ."

"Monty—a good marine who died in deed but not in vain. . ."

"Gene—He died so others might live. . ."

"He died so our people could live free. . ."

Orators some day may say it with more and bigger words. They'll never say it better.

ope, goes on in the same boisterous vein used by his brother.

"So he calls me ugly does he? Well, you can still turn his picture around since I have got a look at him—I am still the best looking. I was only kidding, Mom. He stayed on board ship two nights and I sure was glad to see him. I looked for him all day last Sunday but he didn't come out and he surprised me when he came out Tuesday. I was painting up topside on the deck and all at once he was standing behind me. I got so excited I got my hands in the paint and then I got paint all over him after I saw him. For a few minutes I didn't know what to say and he didn't either. We just stood and looked at each other. He sure looks swell, Mom, the same old Bob with that million dollar smile."

"I am going to try to go over to see him before I leave. I don't know if I will get to or not, though. He is in charge of some boys over on the beach, who are unloading a ship, so you see he doesn't have to work hard. A natural born boss I call him."

"I am sorry we can't tell you where we are but he said he told you once you should be able to guess by now. They say 'no can tell' now."

"Well, Mom, we sure had a long talk. I didn't have to work while he was on board so that was pretty good out of my boss. I think we killed Japs all the way from here to Japan, well almost all of them anyway."

"Don't worry about the kid because he looks better now than I have ever seen him."

Elbert Morris' wife and son reside in Compton, Calif. He left for the Pacific in May.

billeted and bedded beyond bellying. As a result he feels he could give Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus a few pointers on moving.

Pete would rather be called a confidence man than an army housekeeper. He is one of those "red tape cutters" without which a military outfit would be paralyzed by its own rules. When I first met Pete back in Africa he was a captain. The last time I saw him in Czechoslovakia he was wearing silver maple leaves.

Pete operates a personnel agency in Boston in civil life. Now he is a sort of Aladdin in uniform. When other outfits were griping about canned powdered eggs, Pete was mysteriously dishing up omelettes fresh from the hen. When neighboring headquarters were wanly contemplating warmed over C rations, Pete's boys were serving second helpings of fresh beef stew or steak. He had chicken on Sunday and ice cream every other day. How he managed to put fresh eggs on the combat menu in Tunisian deserts and trot out steak in arid Sicily is something Pete would rather not discuss in detail.

"There haven't been any flak suits," he says and adds cautiously, "—yet."

Pete is only 29. He had only one failing. He always liked to be his own Daniel Boone in picking camp sites—and he chose them close enough to the front to collect his war souvenirs personally from the living body of the enemy.

At Mons in the great three-day battle, during which the First Division captured 21,000 prisoners, he was knocking off Germans with his carbine alongside the doughboys. That's something of a luxury for a commandant, whose hobbies ordinarily keep him closer to headquarters. In Germany he was laying out a campsite when the officer commanding the battalion leading the attack came up and said he wanted the location for his own headquarters.

"You couldn't possibly want to move a corps headquarters this far up front," the battalion commander said incredulously.

"The hell I don't," said Pete. He won. When he reported the incident to his general, Huebner laughed approvingly and said:

"Good. I wanted that battalion to move forward anyway. That'll shove them on."

On several occasions Pete got so far ahead his scouting party had to engage in fights with the enemy to get back. He entered Pilsen after the first three American tanks wedged into the city. When a Czech soldier ten feet from him was killed by a German sniper, Pete decided the town was still too hot for his headquarters.

Moving south of Pilsen he overtook and captured a convoy of 96 retreating German troops, borrowed 200 more prisoners from an infantry unit, and immediately put them all to work laying out his camp.

His chief assistants were Pfc. Irving Cohen of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Staff Sgt. Manuel Sylvia of New Bedford, Mass. They threw so many Nazis out of their homes in setting up headquarters sites, the boys were afraid they wouldn't know how to act in the States.

"When I go back," one said, "I'll probably say to my wife from force of habit: All right, you, I'll give you twenty minutes to get out of the house—the Fifth Corps is taking over."

August
August is a curiously still month. Nothing seems to happen. It has not the heart-lifting promise of early summer nor the rich fruition of fall. Summer flowers glow, but droop a little. Fall blossoms are in bud. Offices close for vacation and this year a lot of stores are closing, too. Nothing dire happens to their businesses. Customers, also, are on vacation.

Silly stories crop up about pink skunks and sea serpents and elephants that won't eat peanuts. People seem to have time to listen and laugh. They are not in such a hurry as usual.

The cicadas and their cousins begin to sound shrilly in the twilight, warning of autumn not so far away. Clothing ads are for going-away to college clothes, and getting ready for school. But nobody hurries, for it's summer yet, and hot, and it's hard to believe anything will ever change, even the war, or rationing, or reconversion. New refrigerators—who cares? New cars? But not for another year or more. More bombs on Honshu? Yes, but it's so far away. Peace feelers? They don't mean much. Let's get a swim tonight.

But under cover of the heat and lassitude the world does move, the sun and stars keep on their appointed courses. War draws to an end. Reconversion is at hand. School will begin all too soon. Cool days will come. It's just as well to keep the mind alert and to look ahead a little, even in August.

Even as these words were written, the atomic bomb fell on Japan and rocked the minds of the world.

Scientific Peace
The airplane was created in America, and its chief uses, for both war and peace, are still furthest advanced in this country. So true is this that an American correspondent and air official familiar with the big war fronts in Europe says: "German civilians still get the shakes when you talk about American air power, and show signs of personal fear when they discover that you were a part of the United States air force."

This fear is a very wholesome thing, when considered in the light of past and present history. And our American military authorities are regarded as showing wisdom and foresight in forbidding Germans hereafter to make or use airplanes. For air power is regarded as the supreme power of the future for military use, whether offensive or defensive, and it will be necessary to keep our enemies grounded until there need be no more fear of their abusing such power, as they have done. This deprivation may have to be enforced on the Germans, or any other international lawbreakers, for at least a generation or two.

The days of scientific peace, as contrasted with scientific war, may operate more effectively and quickly than most of us have expected. An American air official says: "German scientists who a few months ago were devising new airplanes and weapons of war and be held as civil criminals."

WASHINGTON — GIs who invade Japan will have drilled into their minds the fact that their presence on Japanese soil "will help to defeat the Japanese of their cock-eyed ideas that they were born to rule the world."
In a "Pocket Guide to Japan," prepared by the Army Service Forces and already in limited circulation in Capitol Hill, invading Americans will be told among other things not to trust any Japanese, regardless of sex or age. They will be reminded that "these are the people who murdered the Doolittle fliers forced down in Japanese occupied territory" and who "tortured, starved, and killed the prisoners of Bataan and Corregidor."
The Japanese, the guide emphasizes, "are going to be taught a lesson they will never forget" and will be made to "realize that peace can bring greater rewards than war."
As the "key" to conduct the booklet advises the occupation troops not to fraternize

German Losses
It is interesting to see what the triple conference in Berlin has done to German territory. Russia, which owns more land than any other nation in the world, and needs outlets here and there, gets the northern part of East Prussia, where the great philosopher Immanuel Kant lived. Poland gets the rest of it. Germany was previously dispossessed of the Rhineland, the province she had seized west of the Rhine.

That whole region has been a battleground shifting back and forth for 2,000 years. Adolf Hitler thought he had it all stabilized and in German hands for ages to come, but apparently he misjudged the situation.

More Meat, Less Soap
There will be more roasts and steaks this fall and winter, says Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson. That's good. But the epicure, fussy about what he eats, will miss some favorite foods. Sugar, eggs, chickens, pork, lamb, butter, will be short at least until next spring.
As for soap, he doesn't say, "No soap!" But he does say there will be less. "We are not getting our usual quota of oils, used in soap manufacture, from the Argentine republic, even though she has an abundance." He hopes a better arrangement may yet be worked out, but meantime housewives will not be able to use soap with their usual prodigality and demand for special brands. They must take what soap there is, and make each bar and package go as far as possible.

Mr. Anderson asks farmers and gardeners to produce to the limit at this time. "Surpluses which used to wreck us may yet save a hungry world from collapse," he says.

These are times when millions of people seem to be going around in a daze, looking for a Shangri-La.

Excessive Energy in Brain Cause of Epileptic Seizures

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.
THE modern view on epilepsy is that it is a disease due to some disturbance of the electrical equilibrium of the brain. It has been possible by means of an electrical device to make tracings of the brain waves.
In epilepsy, according to Doctor Gerald Caplan of England from time to time an excessive amount of energy accumulates in the brain and the convulsion which occurs in epilepsy is the form in which this energy is discharged. In epilepsy, as you may know there is loss of consciousness together with convulsions or twitching and spasm of the muscles. These attacks may come on at any time and may occur at some awkward moment, for example, when a person is driving a car or working with a machine, and in such cases there may be some danger of injury.

Cause Unknown
The exact cause of epilepsy is not known. Various forms of treatment have been employed including rest, freedom from physical and mental strain, and the use of drugs such as phenobarbital and dilantin.
Doctor Caplan suggests the idea of replacing these convulsions which may come on at any time by electrically-induced convulsions which can be brought on when desired. This form of treatment, he does not believe should replace the methods carried out at present.

PEOPLE WILL TALK
You may get through the world but 'twill be very slow
If you listen to all that is said as you go;
You'll be worried and fretted and kept in a stew
For meddlesome tongues must have something to do—
And people will talk.
If quiet and modest, you'll have it presumed
That your humble position is only assumed.
You're a wolf in sheep's clothing, or else you're a fool
But don't get excited—keep perfectly cool—
For people will talk.
And then if you show the least boldness of heart,
Or a slight inclination to take your own part,
They will call you an upstart, conceited, and vain.
But keep straight ahead—don't stop to explain—
For people will talk.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN
Dimay and amazement filled her as she recognized Bill Steuben. He—a guest of the Jones?—had not called on her? Flight was out of the question now. She would carry it off on the casual note.
But then she heard a low whistle, and the call, "Eleonore!"
Redfaced, his brown hair in his eyes, Bill emerged. Then he did an odd thing; crouching, crawling to the rear of the ledge, he beckoned for her to do likewise. "You mustn't be seen," he panted. She obeyed the urgency in his tone, sliding over to him. "Bill, this is a surprise!"
"I saw you from below. I saw you pass the house a while before that. You shouldn't have come here."
"Bill, for the love of mush, talk sense! You act as if bloodhounds were after you!" He gulped and shook his head. His furtiveness brought her suspicions into the foreground of her mind. Light broke. "Then it's true?" she whispered.
"True?"
"The Jones outfit are?"
"You didn't know it?" he cut in swiftly.
Eleonore burst out, "Then how come you—" Again illumination came in a flash. "Bill, you—you are the one!"
"Naturally! I feel bad for drawing you into it, darling." He went on to explain that he had described the locality to his chief and mentioned his friendship with her; the chief had then enlisted her aid. But the apology passed over her like a breeze. He had called her "darling."
"So you didn't know it was this place?" he asked.
"Why Mr. Jones told me that he was working against the Fifth column?"
"Eyes! He's one of the worst Fascists in the country, one of the most dangerous! They think him a crackpot writer in New York with radical ideas; but man, oh man, if they knew what that smiling snake is up to! He's worse than any native Nazi!"
"I felt squirmy the first time he called on me—he wanted to rent our house—then I liked him; but my dog—"
"They killed him," he interrupted gloomily.
Eleonore uttered a horrified exclamation. Then asked, "Do they suspect me?"
"No, but they'd prefer that you didn't pass the house. They are desperate people; and it's possible that someone may try to frighten you on the road."
She laughed nervously. "You're almost incoherent. Just who are they?"
Steuben described the Nazi spy school and training. He had not been out for exercise except at night, until today when Carlotta— "She's not Mrs. Jones?" cut in Eleonore.
"There is no Mrs. Jones. It's Carlotta who is the boss of the whole show. She's German and a pal of Himmler."

Mrs. Haines Hostess for WCTU Meeting

The Sugar Grove WCTU met at the home of Mrs. F. E. Haines Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was opened with the devotional period which was led by Mrs. Marie Marine. Mrs. Haines, president, was in charge of the business meeting.

Mrs. Marine had charge of the program for the afternoon and her subject was "Health." She opened the program with a paper entitled "Health Around The World." This was followed by papers entitled "Britain Awakening" and "Not To Be Enjoined," read by Mrs. Haines.

Mrs. Lydia Smith read the paper "Who's A Problem?" and Mrs. Ethel Cavine's subject was "Alcoholics Start Young." Mrs. Gladys Hayes read a paper entitled "Penicillin Week" and Mrs. Clara Campbell read two papers, "With Emphasis on Beer" and "What Alcohol Is Good For."

"The Woman With A Broom" was Miss Marilyn Hayes' subject and Miss Minnie Breakfield chose "It Could Happen Here." Mrs. Marine closed the program by reading "The Fine Art of Diagnosis."

Following the program election of officers was held for the ensuing year. Those holding offices were reelected. They are: Mrs. F. E. Haines, president; Mrs. Edith Scott, vice-president; Mrs. Ethel Cavine, treasurer; and Miss Minnie Breakfield, secretary.

The meeting was closed with the WCTU benediction. During the social hour which followed the meeting, the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Jean Nisley, served delicious refreshments.

18 Attend Picnic At Meeting of Church Class

Mrs. Frank Thompson was hostess to eighteen members of the Loyal Daughters Class of McNair Church when they met at her home, Tuesday evening, for a potluck supper and business meeting. One guest, Mrs. Emmett Campbell, was included with the members.

The lawn of the Thompson home was the scene of the supper serving which was made cafeteria style from one large table. It was laden with numerous good dishes.

After the informal and pleasant hour at the tables, they adjourned to the house for a business meeting led by Mrs. Russell Miller. To open the meeting, Mrs. Harold Aleshire read an original poem, "Searching."

After the singing of various well-known hymns late in the evening, they adjourned to meet again on September 5 with Mrs. Russell Miller.

Two Honored At Dinner

Mrs. Loren Foster, of Bloomington, complimented Mrs. Zoe Garringer and Mrs. Foster's husband at a double birthday celebration which was in the form of a dinner served at their home. In addition to the hostess and honorees, the additional guest was Mr. Al Sorrel.

It is of black felt with a pert crown decorated in red. The heavy roll brim—an important feature of the season's hats—is covered with chenille dotted face veil for additional flattery. Next is a demure adaptation of the bonnet by J. Edgar Lorie. The front is frilled with a softly curled two-tone ostrich feather. The model third from the left wears an "autumn maneuver" by G. H. Hodge. It is a soft felt in rust with curving brim and pleated open top, edged with three rows of chenille fringe, yellow, rust and green. At right, "eyes right," also by Hodge, is an important hat for dress wear developed in black felt. The edge of the wide Briton brim is trimmed with soft bright black feathers. (International)

Thane McCoy Is Wed Wednesday To Marion Woman

As the hands of the clock approached twelve, Wednesday, Rev. John Glenn, pastor of the Bloomington Presbyterian Church, performed a single ring wedding ceremony which united Thane R. McCoy, of the Bloomington community, in marriage to Mrs. Minnie Garringer Lowery, of Marion.

Mrs. Glenn was the only other witness for the ceremony.

July 4 Vows Are Announced Here

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Virginia Ann Martin, daughter of Mrs. Elwin J. Martin, 2123 Genesee Ave., Columbus, and the late Mr. Martin, to Pfc. Robert E. Ford, US-MCC, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ford, Washington C. H.

The couple was united in marriage Wednesday evening, July fourth, in the Carteret Street Methodist Church in Beaufort, South Carolina. The Rev. Robert P. Turner, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore an all white ensemble and a corsage of yellow and dusty pink rosebuds. Mrs. Martin and a few personal friends of the groom were the only guests.

Mrs. Ford is a graduate of Madison Township High School and has been with the Curtiss-Wright Corporation for the past two years.

Pfc. Ford is a graduate of Madison Township High School and prior to his entering the service was employed at the Curtiss-Wright Corporation, Columbus. He recently returned to the States after serving thirty months in the South Pacific with the Third Marine Division, and is now stationed at Parris Island, South Carolina.

LENGTH OF TIME ATOM BOMB DEADLY IS NOT KNOWN

NEW QUESTIONS COME UP AFTER FIRST ONE USED

Science Writer Doubts If Lethal Effects Remain
Long After Blast

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—(P)—Will an atomic bomb, many people are asking, be lethal beyond the range of bodily injury by consuming all the oxygen in the air?

The chances of such destruction are remote. A precise answer cannot be given until official reports reveal the construction of the bomb.

Ordinary bombs carry their own oxygen. They don't eat the oxygen of the air. The oxygen they need for burning is locked up molecule by molecule in the explosive chemicals inside the bomb case.

Whether the atomic bomb carries its own oxygen has not been hinted at. Presumably it would carry its own oxygen or most of it. However, this bomb is dealing with old natural forces and chemical reactions in a somewhat new manner. Any change of that sort, however slight, occasionally brings quite unexpected consequences.

Even if the atomic bomb relies for its explosion on the oxygen in the air—something that seems impossible—that surmise is no adequate ground for thinking that people would be asphyxiated for want of oxygen.

Oxygen is 20 per cent of normal air, nitrogen being 79 per cent of the remainder. If all the oxygen was burned out of a cubic mile of air, what was left would be underweight, and the oxygen in the surrounding air would rush in from all sides to restore the balance.

There are no available experiments to show how fast oxygen would replace itself in a huge space. But if only seconds are required, as likely, then a human being would not die for oxygen want in that short period.

However there are other more likely causes of death in the air beyond the blast effects. These are poisonous gases of combustion. Carbon monoxide is one always present in other bomb explosions. There may be other toxic gases. But what others and how much or how lethal they are may not be told until the contents and action of the atomic bomb are made public.

These secondary poisoning effects, while probably more likely than the lack of oxygen, are also in the secondary and possibly minor class.

Statements that rays from the atomic bomb that exploded in Hiroshima will not be dissipated for 70 years nor that their possible lethal effects will entirely disappear—a statement attributed to Dr. Harold Jacobson of New York—apparently refer to particles of earth becoming radioactive under the blast effects.

Jacobson, associated with a New York firm that prepares technical manuals, said today the article was not written by him and did not correctly represent his views. He said he expected to issue a statement later in the day.

An International News Service spokesman said the article, carrying Dr. Jacobson's by-line, was "definitely Dr. Jacobson's story."

For many years scientists have been making such particles by exposing them to a blast of the rays of a cyclotron. These rays are neutrons, which are non-charged particles of atomic size. No one has said whether an atomic bomb emits a blast of neutrons, but that is possible.

The blast of a cyclotron close-up which produces radioactive particles is very concentrated. The blast of neutrons, if any, from an atomic bomb would not be concentrated. It is anybody's guess, in absence of official information, whether these rays might equal a cyclotron's effects.

But if they exist, in enough quantity to make radioactive particles, then carbon, silicon, iron, oxygen or any other chemical element exposed to them can be converted into a radioactive bit of matter. This means it gives off rays like radium. And not only those but other rays, some of them streams of electrons, which are destructive close by, also streams of positrons, which are positively-charged electrons that do not normally exist in nature.

These particles usually have short lives of emitting rays and then become inactive. Their lives last from a few hours up to months and possibly years.

One example, already in medical use, is iodine, rendered radioactive and used to treat toxic goiter. The radioactive iodine concentrates in the goiter and its rays eat out the diseased tissues.

However, all these radioactive particles are harmless unless they are very close to a person's body or actually in it.

According to all the published facts before the war, about the neutrons, X-rays, cosmic rays and all other kinds of rays, they disappear completely after the flash which set them off. They do not hang around even momentarily. They never come back.

So it is contrary to all expectation to think that the rays of the atomic bomb would continue to do damage directly. If they cause the radioactive charges, in huge masses, then there might be danger. It is a danger against which people could shield themselves.

No reports of perils from rays in walking around the New Mexico area were made in the official announcement. Dr. Enrico Fermi was reported to have been one of the first to reach the explosion site, and he rode in a tank. The announcement suggested that the tank was a protection.

If there are radioactive rays after an atomic bomb explosion, a much greater concentration of them would be expected in the first few minutes or hours than ever thereafter.

A tank would be a good protection against most of the rays.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acid and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 18 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passage of urine, and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 18 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FIND SURPLUS PROPERTY VERY HARD TO OBTAIN

Navy Taking Most of Jeeps Released by Army Is Word Received

Fayette County war veterans, as well as those in the district generally, will be deeply interested in announcement by P. C. Houston, district manager of the Smaller War Plants Corporation, that at present it is difficult for veterans to obtain desirable surplus property, although more is expected to be available within a short time.

Houston's statement says: "At this time there is not a sufficient quantity to nearly meet requests nor is it a quality to be of great help to veterans or small business men for business purposes.

"Hundreds of applications are being filed with SWPC, the agency designated by the Surplus Property Board to fill the needs of returned members of the various services. Each veteran is permitted to purchase up to $2500 of surplus property to establish and maintain himself in business.

"What the veteran wants most is transportation—jeeps, trucks, or something to be used as a commercial vehicle. The supply just isn't available. This is because only a limited number have been declared surplus, and practically all of these have been hard to use. The Navy is taking most of the jeeps released by the Army.

"Next the veteran and small business man wants photographic, electrical and small machine equipment as well as tools, etc.

"However, the situation is only temporary. Goods will be reaching the surplus stage in roughly the same ratio that soldiers become veterans, the Surplus Property Board, declares.

There is a lot of surplus property such as heavy machinery, but most is not suited for use of small business or veterans. "Sale to the veteran is based on the theory that the released service man or woman desires an early and equal opportunity to purchase surplus without the intervention of any dealers or private middleman.

"This does not mean that veterans should refrain from filing applications for the surplus needed.

"Applications should be made at the nearest SWPC District Office. As soon as the property is available, the veteran will be notified," he said. "The Surplus Property Act does not give a veteran a priority, but only a preference. SWPC has a top priority which it uses as a government agency in behalf of the veteran.

"Credit is extended under certain conditions. Values are fixed by OPA ceiling less markdown for condition."

74 YEAR OLD GENERAL DIES IN COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, Aug. 9—(AP)—Brig. Gen. Harold M. Bush, 74, who served 41 years with the Ohio National Guard before retiring in 1935, died last night.

He was commander of the 62nd field artillery brigade of the guard, served in the Spanish-American war, the Mexican border campaign, and was a member of the 37th Division in the first World War.

CITY TEACHERS GET PAY BOOST IN COMING YEAR

Only Three Vacancies in Elementary Schools, But Officials Confident

With the opening of school in Washington C. H. less than a month away, there are still three vacancies in the grade schools and at least one in the high school to be filled, but A. B. Murray, the superintendent, is confident they will be before the first bell rings the day after Labor Day.

There will be several changes in the city teaching corps this year. Some already have been made as teachers who resigned have been replaced. Mrs. Jeanne Woolard Chynoweth, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fred D. Woolard, is to go into the kindergarten with Miss Jane Durant, replacing Mrs. Robert Osborn, who was the kindergarten assistant for the first half of last year and a teacher at Sunnyside the last half. She resigned to join her soldier husband when he came back after being wounded in the fighting in Europe. Miss Hilda Lee Evans, who took her normal work at Ohio State University after graduating from WHS, is to take the fourth grade at Eastside filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Hildreth Willis to take a position in the Portsmouth schools nearer her home.

The fifth grade at Eastside is without a teacher as also are the first and second combined and the second at Sunnyside. Miss Madge Dawson, who has been teaching at Eastside for several years, resigned to take a position in another school. Mrs. Dorothy Everhart, who had the first and second combined room at Sunnyside, retired last spring and her sister, Mrs. Florence Mable Preston, now the mother of twins, is reestablishing her home against the day when her husband, Lieut. Ted Preston of the navy, comes home after the war.

For the high school, at least one and possibly two teachers are needed, one for junior high science and mathematics and another to take over the junior high athletics and possible teach science and another subject. It is understood that men are wanted for both of these positions.

School officials are known to be deeply interested in the athletic program for the junior high school pupils and Supt. Murray indicated that selection of a man to take charge of this department would be given careful consideration from both the academic and athletic point of view.

The approximately 63 teachers who have been in the city school system will draw a bit more pay during the coming school year than they have in the past. The increases, however, vary and depend on conditions and qualifications.

Supt. Murray said that after making a careful study of teacher (including principals) salaries he found that there had been an over-all pay increase from 1943 to 1945 of 19 percent; for other school employees 16 percent and for the superintendent 11 percent. These increases, he declared, included the $174 "cost of living increase" bonus paid each city school teacher last year in two installments of $87 on Dec. 15 and May 15.

This year, Murray said, they will get from the Daniels-Cramer bill's provisions, money from the state to a little more than equal the $174 bonus of last year.

This year, Murray said, school employees will get another $174 bonus, which will be paid in two installments again the same as last year, plus increases ranging from $60 per year to $108 per year on the basis of certain stipulated qualifications. This year's "bonus" and increase will be paid out of money received from the state as provided by the Daniels-Cramer bill passed by the last session of the legislature. It covers a two-year period.

Murray pointed out that the teachers and other school employees would not get to pocket all of this because income taxes, retirement fund contributions, etc., would be deducted, as provided by law, before the checks are made out.

The total amount of the city school payroll for teachers and other employees was not immediately available, but the superintendent said that last year it was "around $100,000—a little more." How much the Daniels-Cramer bill would increase last year's total and how much it will make this year's amount to, has not been figured because, it was explained, the number and qualifications (for salary schedule) may vary during the coming school year.

CITIZENS HERE
ELATED OVER
RUSSIAN ENTRY

News Spreads With Great
Rapidity Throughout
Community

Russia's declaration of war, received here about 2 P. M. Wednesday, and carried in the Record-Herald within a short time after its receipt, spread with amazing rapidity and was welcome with joy by everyone.

Russia's entry into the war was not unexpected to many persons, some of whom had heard rumors that great air bases had been constructed in eastern Russia to accommodate American and Russian bomber forces which would operate from Japan on the west, and quickly add to the work of bringing the heathen nation to its knees.

There is a general feeling here that Russia's entry would hasten the end of the war, although it is generally conceded that Russia's help was not really needed.

Some months ago the press of the nation was asked not to carry any information regarding what Russia was doing or intended to do in connection with Japan, and this confidence has been rigidly observed, the only news regarding the possibility of Russia waging war upon Japan being that passed by the censor.

No news recently, except that of the atomic bomb, has been received with more pleasure in this community than the word that at last Russia has cast her lot with America and Great Britain to beat Japan. A flurry of excitement swept the community, as the news of Russia's action spread.

In declaring war upon Japan, Russia will get revenge for the naval defeat administered to her by the Japs in 1906, in a sneak attack, and will recover all territory lost to Japan at that time.

Worry of FALSE TEETH

Slipping or Irritating? Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No pummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEREETH at any drug store.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Herb's Got a Great Little Wife

Everybody's talking about what a grand job Herb Helm is doing at the war plant. Not just one shift, but two a day—to help build the war materials our men need.

Good for Herb! But I'd like to say a word for Mary, Herb's wife. She runs the house, cooks the meals, takes care of the children, and works on salvage drives and bundles for the Red Cross. Believe me, that's tiring work for any woman!

Yet when Herb comes home—too tired to talk or watch where he drops his ashes, maybe—she makes allowances, keeps smiling, brings him a restful glass of beer, and makes enough conversation for them both. Next morning, Herb goes to work refreshed and cheerful.

From where I sit, women like Mary Helm are doing a great war job themselves... being tolerant and kind to husbands who are working under a heavy wartime strain. Bully for them!

MORE MILES-OF-SAFETY
ON RIVERSIDES

EVERY RIVERSIDE PLY IS 12% STRONGER!

Now, Riversides are stronger than Wards pre-war tires! Stronger, because their cords are stronger to begin with; then chemically strengthened to lessen the possibility of a blow-out!

PROOF THAT RIVERSIDES CAN "TAKE IT"!

Laboratory tests prove Riversides greater protection against blow-outs! This big steel spike is "shot" into the spinning tire like a projectile! It actually bores itself! Yet, no blow-out!

89% OF RACE WINNERS CHOSE RIVERSIDES!

Men to whom tires mean life or death, bought regular "stock" Riversides Why? For the same reason that makes thousands of car owners choose Riversides today: MORE MILES-OF-SAFETY!

NO FINER TIRE MADE REGARDLESS OF PRICE!

Now (with a ration order) you can get the extra-safety of Riversides at the lowest prices in months! Riversides are warranted to give satisfactory service—without limit of time or miles!

ONLY 68 CANDIDATES FILE FOR NOVEMBER ELECTION

FIVE SEEKING COUNCIL POST IN THIS CITY

Hospital Bond Issue and Two School Levies Also Up

About the only incentives voters of Washington C. H. and Fayette County will have to go to the polls for the coming November 6 election are bond issue and school levy proposals.

For, there was little in the way of competition for public office to arouse interest in the batch of nominating petition that was filed with the county board of elections when the deadline was reached at 6:30 P. M. Wednesday.

There were only 68 candidates for the 65 offices, running all the way from constable through school boards to city council, to be filed. Competition was set up for only nine offices, and it appeared to be very mild.

Chief interest in Washington C. H. will center around the $360,000 bond issue proposal for a Fayette County Hospital. But the five-man race for the two seats on the city council is viewed as holding possibilities at least for developing a ding-dong campaign.

In Washington C. H. there are five candidates for city council, and two to elect, R. H. Sites and Frank O. Snyder being the councilmen whose terms expire.

Both men filed for re-election and the other three candidates are Tolen E. Brown, C. F. Highley and Ora Bellar.

The $360,000 bond issue proposal for a Fayette County Hospital will be one of the major questions up for decision of the voters. The bonds are to run for a period of 20 years and give to Fayette County adequate hospital facilities at home.

There is a three mill school levy proposal in this city, which is a renewal of the present levy, and if adopted, will run for five years instead of two, as the present levy has done.

In Greene Township a renewal of a two mill school levy for a period of three years, is also to be voted upon.

Following is a list of all candidates who filed for the November election:

City of Washington, Members of Council, (2 to elect)—Tolen E. Brown, C. F. Highley, R. H. Sites, Frank O. Snyder, Ora Bellar.

Concord Twp., Trustees, (2 to elect)—Warren E. Brannon, Homer S. Morrow.

All Unpaid Sewage Disposal Bills To Be Certified

All sewage disposal bills that are delinquent up to July 1 will be sent to the County Treasurer to be levied against the property owners and paid as other taxes, City Auditor Miss Vera Veal said Thursday.

In all there are about 275 delinquent at the present time, but it is expected most of these will be paid during August so that certification may not be necessary.

PAINT COUNCIL HOLDS SESSION

Many Topics Discussed at Regular Meeting

Following a covered dish supper, the Paint Township Farm Bureau Council No. 2, held a business meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Michael.

The discussion hour was taken up with resolutions and other member was asked to write their recommendations, or give their viewpoints on the question "Can We Make Democracy Work?"

It was the opinion of those present that expansion and improvement of living conditions should be made for the well being of the farmers generally.

Health, taxes, grade-labeling, control of monopoly, price fixing, rationing and price control were some of the topics discussed as being most important toward the progress of the 1946 program.

the entire nation "against the Soviet army's unlawful invasion."

Senior members of "Dai Nippon Seijaku," most influential political party in Japan, held an emergency meeting at the Diet building in Tokyo to discuss counter measures.

The Soviet radio at Khabarovsk directed the Red army to "settle an old score" with Japan, and to bend all efforts to smash Japanese imperialism so that mankind can breathe freely after getting rid of aggression.

The special broadcast, recorded by the FCC, calling the Japanese "the worst enemies of our people and all the peace-loving peoples of the world."

The Russians may be planning a huge pincer movement from the east and west against the Kwantung army.

If the Japanese may a determined stand here, the fighting may well be bloody. The best trained and best equipped units of Hirohito's forces are believed to have been held in Manchuria all through the war against just such an eventuality.

At the nearest point the eastern border of the Japanese puppet territory, which Tokyo named Manchukuo, lies within 30 miles of the great Soviet Pacific base of Vladivostok.

Close cooperation was indicated between the fighting forces of the Soviet Union and the four other big powers who asked her to join the war.

Every fighting center in the Pacific—Guam, Pearl Harbor, Manila, Chungking, Adak—heralded the declaration as shortening the war and promised cooperation.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, U. S. commander in China whose area has been extended to Korea, conferred with Russian military representatives today.

General MacArthur, on-to-Tokyo American commander who was "delighted" at the news, was expected to establish a liaison with the Soviets. Chungking predicted closer cooperation than in Europe.

American propagandists took full advantage of the situation. OWI broadcasters opened an intensified broadcast campaign dramatic news at a press conference three and a half hours after he had summoned Japanese Ambassador Naotake Sato to the Kremlin and handed him the declaration, to be effective at midnight, seven hours later.

Sato was permitted to send his last telegram to Tokyo with the announcement. The ambassador remained at the Japanese embassy in Moscow's residential section last night, with his staff gathered about him. Japanese who were living in Moscow began flocking to the embassy a short time later after Sato received the news.

Their return to Japan will be subject to the arrangements for the return of the Soviet staff from Tokyo.

(The Tokyo radio in an English-language broadcast to North America, said no official message had been received up to 2 P. M. Tokyo time, from Sato. The broadcast, recorded by the FCC, came after other Tokyo radio reports quoted Moscow broadcasts as saying Sato had been informed of the declaration.)

Molotov, asserting the declaration of war was a move to join the Allies in bringing peace to a war-weary world, disclosed that Emperor Hirohito had asked the Soviet Union to mediate in the Pacific war. This was in "mid-July."

Britain and America were informed, he said.

He added that Tokyo's rejection of the Potsdam unconditional surrender ultimatum left the Japanese proposals without significance.

A high foreign diplomatic source here told the Associated Press this had been one of two such Japanese moves.

Molotov's announcement said Russia entered the Japanese war as her "loyal Allied duty" on the request of the United States.

KUPER HOOD IS NEW DIRECTOR

Heads War Finance Board in This District

Appointment of Kuper Hood, Jr., as an associate director of the War Finance Committee for Ohio, in charge of the Cincinnati office and southern district, was announced Thursday in Cleveland by Harold H. Bredlow, executive director of the organization.

Bredlow said Hood had been named to the post upon recommendation of John J. Rowe, area chairman, and the executive committee of the Hamilton County War Bond group. Hood will represent the state War Bond staff working with the local committees in Hamilton County and 21 other Southern Ohio counties.

These counties are: Adams, Brown, Butler, Champaign, Clark, Clermont, Clinton, Darke, Fayette, Gallia, Greene, Highland, Jackson, Lawrence, Meigs, Miami, Montgomery, Pike, Preble, Scioto and Warren.

War Bond sales in this important area during the Seventh War Loan Drive totaled $392,514,000 against a $182,514,000 quota.

Hood will assume his new duties immediately, succeeding George L. Patterson, resigned. He is on leave of absence from the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company. Hood is a native of Covington, Kentucky.

A veteran of World War I, Hood returned recently from overseas duties as an American Red Cross Field Director. He is a member of the American Legion.

Britain and China. He reminded the Japanese that after the defeat and capitulation of Germany, Japan was the only great power "which still insisted on the continuation of war."

After Japan's refusal to capitulate, he continued, the Allies asked the Soviet Union to join "against Japanese aggression, and by this shorten the war, to reduce the number of casualties and to speed the restoration of universal peace."

"The Soviet government considers that this policy is the only means able to bring peace nearer, free the people from further sacrifice and suffering and give the Japanese people the possibility of avoiding the dangers and destruction suffered by Germany after her refusal to capitulate unconditionally," the statement added.

Some of these calls may not be completed unless we all cooperate to give our returning heroes a break. You can help by doing two things.

1. Make only urgent long distance calls in the next few months when circuits will be jammed with service men's calls home.

2. Be brief. When others are waiting, the operator will remind you by saying: "Please limit your call to five minutes."

1914. They said territories she had stolen, such as Manchuria, Formosa and the Pescadores, would be restored to China. The three powers also agreed that "in due course Korea shall become free and independent."

If the Soviets are bound by these terms a great many Americans, including members of Congress, will breathe easier on that score. Legislators have been speculating for months on what Russia might want, with guesses ranging all the way from a part of Manchuria to all of Korea.

Diplomatic sources generally believe that the Russians were not promised a specific territory at Yalta. If that is true, they must make original claims at the Pacific peace conference for any areas they might desire.

Speculation is that they will want full sovereignty of the island of Sakhalin, which they now share with Japan; that they will want a warm weather outlet through Manchuria, probably at Dairen, which they held on a commercial basis prior to the Russo-Japanese war; and that they may want naval base rights at Port Arthur, which they also had 40 years ago.

POLICE JUDGE HAS BIG MONTH

Collects Total of $1,715.10 During July

Judge R. H. Sites, at the Wednesday night session of Council, submitted his report for the month of July, showing a total of $1,715.10 collected in fines, fees and forfeitures during the month.

His report showed 72 city cases handled during the month, with an income of $1,593.60; 10 other cases netting $54.50 and state patrol cases totaling $67.50, or 88 cases in all, with the city's portion $1,647.67.

City Manager W. L. Stambaugh praised Judge Sites for his large collection and said that it showed he was for law enforcement and was backing up the Police Department in their work.
